RAJYA SABHA

The following Bills were introduced in the Rajya Sabha on 9th December, 2005:—

I

BILL NO. XIX OF 2005

A Bill further to amend the Constitution of India.

BE it enacted by Parliament in the Fifty-sixth Year of the Republic of India as follows:—

- | | |
|---|---------------------------------------|
| 1. (1) This Act may be called the Constitution (Amendment) Act, 2005. | Short title and commencement. |
| (2) It shall come into force with immediate effect. | |
| 2. In article 276 of the Constitution, in clause (2), for the words “two thousand and five hundred rupees”, the words “ten thousand rupees” shall be substituted. | Amendment of article 276. |

STATEMENT OF OBJECTS AND REASONS

At present there is a provision to levy professional tax by the States to mobilise its resources which should not exceed two thousand five hundred rupees per annum. The professional tax so levied is entitled for Income tax exemption and, therefore, the employees are not averse to pay higher rate of professional tax. States like Karnataka are finding it difficult to provide infrastructure facilities in big cities like Bangalore and Mysore where IT companies are agitating for better infrastructure facilities. Therefore, in order to facilitate the States to levy higher rate of professional tax, it is sought to amend the Constitution to make provision for the States to levy the professional tax not exceeding rupees ten thousand.

Hence this Bill.

mencement. |

| (3) It shall come into force on such date, as the Central Government may, by notification in the Official Gazette, appoint. | |

Power to make rules.

8. The Central Government may by notification in the Official Gazette make rules for carrying out the provisions of this Act.

STATEMENT OF OBJECTS AND REASONS

The ability to read and write is an essential element of human capability. Literacy is the first step towards acquiring tools of learning and opening the doors for knowledge and information. Education expands opportunity for girls, empowers them to resist oppression and to claim their right.

In our country, girls belong to weaker and vulnerable section of the society. Although many steps have been taken to improve their condition, yet nothing concrete has been done. Even today, girls are not treated equally and are subject to discrimination by their parents. They are kept away from school and are forced to assist their mothers in household affairs and are deprived of childhood joys.

It is the appropriate time to take stock of the situation and to ensure that girls belonging to poor families are given free and compulsory education. They should also be provided with facilities like free stationery items, free uniform, writing materials, hostel facilities, etc. to encourage them to get education. This will not only help in eradication of illiteracy from the country but will also help the girls to grow and compete with their male counterparts.

Hence this Bill.

FINANCIAL MEMORANDUM

Clause 3 of the Bill provides for free and compulsory education and other facilities to every girl child whose parents are living below poverty line by the appropriate government. Clause 4 provides for establishment of schools by appropriate government. The Central Government will bear the expenditure incurred in respect of Union territories and the State Governments will bear the expenditure incurred in respect of their States out of their respective consolidated funds.

The Bill, if enacted, will involve expenditure from the Consolidated Fund of India. It is estimated that an annual recurring expenditure of about rupees five thousand crore per annum is likely to be involved.

A non-recurring expenditure of about rupees eight hundred crore is likely to be involved.

MEMORANDUM REGARDING DELEGATED LEGISLATION

Clause 8 of the Bill empowers the Central Government to make rules for carrying out the provisions of the Bill. As the rules to be made will relate to matters of detail only, the delegation of legislative power is of a normal character.

III

BE it enacted by Parliament in the Fifty-sixth Year of the Republic of India as follows:—

Short title.

1. This Act may be called the Constitution (Amendment) Act, 2005.

Amendment
of article 124.

The Judges of the Supreme Court and High Courts are high dignitaries. In the recent past, it has been seen that Judges are offered lucrative posts after their retirement. In order to maintain dignity of the post, it is proposed to provide that Judges shall not hold any post under the Government after their retirement and they may not be considered for Chairmanship or Membership of any Inquiry Committee or Commission set up by the respective Governments, State or Centre.

12. The Central Government may, by notification in the Official Gazette, make rules for carrying out the purposes of this Act.

STATEMENT OF OBJECTS AND REASONS

In the metropolitans and urban areas, people stricken with infirmity, deformation, disability or suffering from leprosy can be seen begging at public places, religious places or intersections of the roads, etc. Their number is in millions. Many of them are born on the footpath, grow on footpath and die there sometimes unnoticed and unsung. People become destitute because they are stricken with infirmity due to old age, physical disability, diseases, mental disorder or mental retardation. Many a time old people are thrown out without means of livelihood and they become destitute. Similarly people have to leave their villages due to various reasons and they come to cities where they end up on the pavements and other public places. These destitute and poor are neglected by the society and they live uncared for and subsist mainly on begging. Society owes much to itself for according humane treatment to these destitute and poor. If proper rehabilitation programmes are prepared and implemented and a chance is given to be in the mainstream of the society to these hapless people who are victims of circumstances they too can become respectable and responsible members of the society. The uplift of these people will go a long way in giving them some soothing touch and will help in rehabilitating them. Steps like vocational training, a helping hand, a little sympathy coupled with opportunities will go a long way in rehabilitating them in life. This can be done only when they are housed in protective environment where they can live, get something to eat and wear, followed by vocational training and a helping hand to enable them to start their venture or vocation to settle in life. For this a long-term policy is required and there should be a Board to implement such policy in letter and spirit.

Hence this Bill.

V

BILL NO. LXXXIX OF 2005

A Bill to provide for thirty-three per cent reservation in posts and appointments in public employment of the State for women and for matters connected therewith.

BE it enacted by Parliament in the Fifty-sixth Year of the Republic of India as follows:—

Short title, extent and commencement.

1. (1) This Act may be called the Public Employment (Reservation for Women) Act, 2005.

(2) It extends to the whole of India.

(3) It shall come into force with immediate effect.

2. In this Act, unless the context otherwise requires,— Definitions.

(a) "appropriate Government" means in the case of a State the Government of that State and in other cases the Central Government;

(b) "prescribed" means prescribed by rules made under this Act;

(c) "public employment" means employment in connection with the affairs of the Central or any State Government and includes employment in any Public Sector Undertaking, Banks, Universities and educational institutions, local Self Government bodies, autonomous bodies or any authority under the appropriate Government.

3. (1) Notwithstanding anything contained in any other law for the time being in force or in any decree or judgment of a Court of law, there shall be reserved thirty three per cent of all appointments and posts in public employment for the women.

Reservation for women in public employment.

(2) The appropriate Government shall make provisions for relaxation of eligibility conditions, qualifying marks in any examination for public employment or lowering the standard of evaluation consistently with the maintenance of administrative efficiency, as may be prescribed in case of appointment of women in public employment.

4. The Central Government may, by notification in the Official Gazette, make rules for carrying out the purposes of this Act.

Power to make rules.

STATEMENT OF OBJECTS AND REASONS

Women constitute nearly one half of our population but majority of them are educationally backward, dependent on their family members, superstitious and a suppressed lot. Most of them have become prone to various kinds of exploitations and are confined to the four-walls of their families. Their representation in public employment is negligible because most of them are so deeply engrossed in family affairs and burdened with such heavy domestic responsibilities that despite their education, aptitude and calibre they are unable to enter into public employment. Great efforts have been made to ameliorate the sufferings of women after the independence but, unfortunately, they continue to remain socially and economically weak. Therefore, they deserve special consideration for public employment.

There is job reservation for Scheduled Castes, Scheduled Tribes and Other Backward Classes in public employment but no such reservation exclusively exists for women thus they are denied social justice. To enable women to enjoy the fruits of social justice it would only be proper that reservation in public employment is also extended to women as in the case of other weaker sections of the society so as to ensure their due representation in Government services in the Country.

Hence this Bill.

MAYA SINGH.

MEMORANDUM REGARDING DELEGATED LEGISLATION

Power to make rules.

8. The Central Government may, by notification in the Official Gazette, make rules for carrying out the purposes of this Act.

STATEMENT OF OBJECTS AND REASONS

There is severe shortage of houses or dwelling units in our country. Millions of people are not having roof over their heads and homelessness is increasing rapidly. In the cities millions of people spend their lives on footpaths, parks and other open space. Millions of other live in slums and Jhuggi Jhopri clusters in inhuman conditions without basic civic amenities and full of garbage, filth and dangerous diseases. The Central and State Governments have set up Housing Boards or Authorities to provide houses to the people but they are not able to meet the target as their liability to provide houses has not been fixed. If right to dwelling units is made a fundamental right of the citizens, it will have the desired effects as the State can be compelled to provide houses to the citizens and it will compel the Housing Boards and Authorities to move in the right direction.

Since right to housing has been recognized in all international covenants to which our country is a ratifying State, the Central and State Governments are legally bound to make houses available to the citizens. Our Supreme Court has also recognized this right.

Hence this Bill.

KRIPAL PARMAR.

VII

BILL NO. XCII OF 2005

A Bill further to amend the Constitution of India.

BE it enacted by Parliament in the Fifty-sixth Year of the Republic of India as follows:—

Short title and commencement.

1. (1) This Act may be called the Constitution (Amendment) Act, 2005.

(2) It shall come into force with immediate effect.

Insertion of new article
45A.

2. After article 45 of the Constitution, the following article shall be inserted, namely:—

Complete freedom of childhood.

"45A. The State shall endeavour to secure for children,—

(a) the complete freedom of childhood with right to play and enjoy childhood until they complete the age of five years by ensuring that they are not admitted in any school till that age;

(b) after they complete the age of five years the right to quality education and ensuring that they do not get much homework which may curtail their playing time and they do not have to carry heavy load of school bags in their tender age;

- (c) access to the play grounds, children parks and playing in the streets and parks of their colonies and areas;
- (d) access to comprehensive healthcare;
- (e) creche facilities in case parents are employed;
- (f) access to learning arts, fine arts, computers and other hobbies;
- (g) nutritious meals during school hours free of cost;
- (h) freedom from being employed in any factory or establishment or from being exploited by forcing into begging, stealing, pick pocketing and such other activities or from being sexually exploited; and
- (i) such other provisions as the State may deem necessary for the overall development of the children."

STATEMENT OF OBJECTS AND REASONS

Children of today are the future citizens of the nation, but in the present age of modernization, advancement and fierce competition the children have lost their childhood. They cannot enjoy their childhood any more in a carefree atmosphere through playing and running after the butterflies, teasing, playing in the dust and making fun of everything and enjoying. They have to prepare themselves for competition so as to get admission in schools of repute right from the tender age of two plus when they join a preparatory school and start doing home work. At the age of three or four, if the child is fortunate to get admission in a school, regular schooling starts with heavy load of school bags. In fact, there is no time for the children to lay and enjoy their childhood. It is also equally true that majority of the children are not able to get good education and the unfortunate ones cannot afford even the basic education due to poverty. Millions of such hapless children do not have access to schools. They are forced to work in the households, shops, dhabas, sweetmeat shops or earn their living by doing jobs like beedi rolling, manufacture of carpets or crackers and so on. They have to work for hours together. Many of them collect waste papers, plastic material, metal scraps from the streets and dustbins and sell the collection for survival. They are compelled to do all this due to circumstances, as they are orphans or forced by their poor or sometimes addicted parents to work for additional income. Majority of the children do not get nutritious diet and are anaemic and sick. It is an irony that at the school going age they have to become ragpickers, beggars, domestic servants, waiters or workers at the various establishments or do the jobs like carpet weaving and beedi rolling or assist in manufacturing, crackers etc.

In a democratic and welfare State like ours the children should be given every right and opportunity to enjoy their childhood and grow up as responsible citizens through learning and develop their potentials. They should get good and quality education and the weight of their school bags be reduced and they should not be given much home work so that they get enough time to play and enjoy their childhood. It should be their right to get nutritious meals and medical care. Every effort should be made to enable the children to enjoy their basic rights.

Hence this Bill.

KRIPAL PARMAR.

FINANCIAL MEMORANDUM

Clause 2 of the Bill provides for the children access to play grounds, children parks, comprehensive healthcare, creche facilities, nutritious meals, etc. The Bill if enacted will involve expenditure from the Consolidated Fund of India. It is estimated that a sum of rupees one thousand crores may involve as recurring expenditure per annum.

Non-recurring expenditure to the tune of five hundred crore rupees may also involve from the Consolidated Fund of India.

VIII

BILL NO. XCV OF 2005

A Bill further to amend the Constitution of India.

BE it enacted by Parliament in the Fifty-sixth Year of the Republic of India as follows:—

1. (1) This Act may be called the Constitution (Amendment) Act, 2005.

Short title and commencement.

(2) It shall come into force with immediate effect.

2. After article 21 of the Constitution, following article shall be inserted, namely:—

Insertion of new article 21B.

"21B. (1) Every citizen and his family living below the poverty line so determined by the Planning Commission from time to time and living in the slums and jhuggi jhopri clusters shall have the right to:—

Right to dwelling unit of citizens belonging to below poverty line living in slums and jhuggi jhopri clusters.

(a) live in his own dwelling unit built by him either on his own land or on public land; and

(b) the minimum basic civic amenities like electricity, drinking water, sewerage, road connectivity, open park, garbage dumps, health services, schools, etc. from the State.

(2) No dwelling unit covered under clause (1) of this article shall be acquired or requisitioned by the state for any purpose except according to procedure established by law or demolished without providing a suitable alternative dwelling unit, if such unit was existing for than six months.

Explanation.— For the purposes of this article—

(a) "below poverty line" means where the total income of a citizen or a family is less than rupees one thousand five hundred per month or as determined by the Planning Commission from time to time.

(b) "dwelling unit" includes a jhuggi jhopri or house built on any area whether authorised or unauthorised."

STATEMENT OF OBJECTS AND REASONS

Slums and jhuggi jhopri clusters exist side by side in most of the Metropolitans and urban areas of our country. They have mushroomed in a big way for one reason or the other. These are generally inhabited by the poor and those living below the poverty line. For many, these slums and JJ clusters are an eyesore and disease prone places whereas for others they have become part and parcel of city life as they provide cheap labour for household works and for other purposes and establishments. Such clusters come up either on Government land or in areas which are called unauthorised colonies where poor people invest their life time savings for roof over their heads.

It is also true that the slums and JJ clusters do not have even basic civic amenities like drinking water, electricity, sewerage, toilets, health facilities, open space and parks, roads, etc. As a result, these areas are disease prone, stinking with rotting garbage emanating bad odour creating nauseous atmosphere, in and around such areas as the people also attend their call of nature nearby, keep pigs, goats and other milch animals which further deteriorates the environment which is sufficient to make the inhabitants disease prone. These areas also become den of various criminal activities. Despite the shortcomings, crores of people live or languish in these slums and clusters.

Many a time in the name of beautification or development or removal of unauthorised occupation, the dwelling units or jhuggis are demolished by the authorities that too without providing alternative shelter to displaced persons. Recent drives of demolition of JJ clusters had led the Supreme Court to direct the Government to provide alternative sites to the displaced JJ residents. In order to prevent the deprivation of the poor and those living below poverty line of their dwelling units, it is necessary to make the setting up of the dwelling unit a fundamental right by inserting a new article in the Constitution.

Hence this Bill.

STATEMENT OF OBJECTS AND REASONS

In our country there are millions of unfortunate women who lose their husbands, many a time untimely, and become widows and their number is nearly three per cent of our population. Very large number of widows particularly from the lower and middle income groups of our society become destitute after the death of their husbands. More than fifty per cent of these widows are old without any means to support themselves. Their position becomes more miserable if they have dependent children to support and bring up. They work as housemaids and take up other jobs for survival. It is very common in our society that when a widow does not have a source of livelihood or permanent source of income they are driven out of their in-laws homes or even from their parental homes. Sometimes condition of such widows becomes so miserable due to poverty and other compelling reasons that they are exploited to the extent possible and their life is made disgraceful. Many old widows suffering from infirmity due to old age, disability or ailment can be seen begging in the streets and public places. Many young widows are not only sexually exploited by their known ones but also forced into prostitution. Due to superstition at many places, they are treated as bad omen and are kept away from auspicious functions of the households.

Ours is a welfare State, therefore, the State is duty bound to initiate welfare measures and protect and provide maintenance to the hapless widows so that they too live honourably in the society. For this purpose and autonomous Welfare Board should be established to exclusively look after the welfare of needy widows.

Hence this Bill.

STATEMENT OF OBJECTS AND REASONS

It is awesome and pitable that even in this age of scientific advancements, modernization and progress in all walks of life, the girl child is the most neglected and unwanted in the world and more so in our country. Most of the families do not want to have a daughter. The girl is killed in the womb of her mother itself if the female foetus is detected in the sex determination tests, which are conducted illegally on a very large scale throughout the country. The latest Census (2001) has revealed a stunning fact about the steep decline in male-female ratio in the country and more so in the northern and western states where the female ratio has declined to the dangerous levels. Further, the hapless girl child is consistently neglected in many homes. The condition of girl child in the orthodox families particularly in rural and tribal areas is the worst. While the boy gets the best of attention, the girl is generally neglected. Every family tries to send the boy to the best school but the girl is not sent for school education. Girls are denied even the basic schooling. They are forced to do the household chores and married off at a very tender age. In the cities the poor girls can be seen working as maids in households which, in fact, is their school going age. In the cities and Metropolitans many families give equal treatment to the girl child and in some rare cases the girl child is given more weightage and facilities, love and care but their percentage is negligible. Majority of girls remain illiterate and exploited throughout their lives. This leads to further illiteracy among the future generation of the girl child and this vicious cycle goes on.

Hence it has become necessary to take some drastic steps by making basic education compulsory and mandatory so as to remove illiteracy amongst the girl child. If the girl child becomes literate she will not allow her children later to remain illiterate. This will eradicate illiteracy from the country. It is therefore, proposed in this Bill that the parents must send the girl child to school for basic education otherwise they should be punished. The Government too should open adequate number of schools for the girls and provide necessary facilities in such schools. This will have the desired results and illiteracy amongst the girl child will be eradicated very soon.

Hence this Bill.

STATEMENT OF OBJECTS AND REASONS

As per National Survey on Blindness (2001—03) there are estimated 1.2 crore visually handicapped or blind persons in the country and the estimated prevalence of blindness is 0.91 per cent in males and 1.29 per cent in females. For these unfortunate visually handicapped persons darkness has become part of their lives. Shockingly their number is increasing despite the fact that a National Programme for Control of Blindness is under implementation in the country. The visually handicapped persons face all sorts of odds in their day to day life and more so the visually handicapped females. To provide education to the visually handicapped persons Governments are running Blind Schools and Training Centres to give them vocational training but number of such schools and Training Centres is awfully very short. But the worst comes when the visually handicapped despite acquiring educational qualifications and vocational training do not get employment and remain neglected in the society. Many of them are very talented and can deliver the goods but they are denied employment on one pretext or the other. In Government jobs one per cent vacancies are reserved for visually handicapped persons but even this small percentage is not fully filled up and there remains backlog of vacancies for one reason or the other whereas qualified visually handicapped persons are running from pillar to post to find employment leading to frustration and distress. Now they are agitating in streets and before Government offices. Hence in a Welfare State like ours adequate employment opportunities have to be provided to these unfortunate brothers and sisters of our society so that they too can lead a good life.

Hence this Bill.

STATEMENT OF OBJECTS AND REASONS

In the metropolitan and other urban areas of our country millions of street children living on the pavements, hutments and slums subsist on ragpicking, a hazardous activity, in which these hapless children, boys as well as girls, collect waste papers, plastic, metal scraps from the dustbins, roads and streets and then sell the collection to scrap dealers for few rupees. Many of them support their poor families for variety of reasons. Many of them are orphans or those run away from their houses for one reason or the other. These unfortunate children are vulnerable to various diseases as they work in stinking garbage dumps full of germs and contact diseases like Titanus, TB, Hepatitis, Cholera, Asthma, Gastroenteris and even Cancer and chronic skin diseases, but they have no other option but to subsist on this health hazardous job.

The atmosphere they live in and the circumstances compel many of them to engage in petty crimes like pickpocketing, stealing, snatching either of their own or being control by anti social elements. Many of them are sexually exploited and by the time they turn major they become hardened criminals. There are many street children who are talented but they remain illiterate. If given proper training they can become very good mechanics or even engineers or if given proper education can become scholars and doctors but their fate and luck disappears in the garbage and evil.

Ours is a welfare State in which all children must enjoy their childhood. They must grow in a right atmosphere and get all the facilities of life including good education and become responsible citizen. Hence the State should come forward with welfare measures for these hapless street children so that their future is shaped well and they prove as an asset for the nation.

Hence this Bill.

STATEMENT OF OBJECTS AND REASONS

Films are one of the popular means of entertainment and our country produces the largest number of films in the world every year in Hindi and most of the regional languages and new films are released every Friday for showing in the Cinema Halls throughout the country. Our film industry provides employment and livelihood not only to the artistes, producers, and directors but also to the supporting artistes, junior artistes, technicians, stunt artistes, musicians, helpers and scores of other workers, suppliers, exhibitors and so on and so forth whose number runs into millions. Unfortunately, today the film industry is under the onslaught of video piracy which is ruining this entertainment industry each passing day. It takes years, lots of money, generally taken from financiers on a very high rate of interest, hard work of the director, producers, artistes and the entire film unit to complete the film but as soon as the film is released it is pirated and shown on cable television network the very same day. As a result the viewers do not turn up to see the film in cinema halls which causes huge losses to the distributors, producers and director. In this process the States also lose substantial entertainment tax running into crores of rupees. The apathy of the police to check such piracy results in continuance of piracy unabated. This has put a question mark on the very survival of our film industry. Hence, it has become necessary to take some tough steps to check the piracy and make the penalty more deterrent. To implement the provisions of this Bill it is suggested that Special Cells of local Police be set up exclusively to deal with video piracy. The offences should be cognizable, non-bailable and compoundable and Special Courts should be established to try the offences. This will certainly check the video piracy to a greater extent. The Bill has also entrusted the Central Government to promote the film industry by giving incentives and concessions in a big way.

Hence this Bill.
